

IPC Cited in Chicago Sun-Times Op-Ed

Published on Thu, Oct 31, 2013

In a recent op-ed in the Chicago Sun-Times titled "How Immigration Reform Would Help Chicago," Stephen Bouman cited the Immigration Policy Center while making the case for the economic benefits of passing immigration reform:

"The Immigration Policy Center's researchers find that Latino and Asian entrepreneurs and consumers already add tens of billions of dollars and tens of thousands of jobs to Illinois's economy. Imagine how Chicago's economy could buzz if all immigrants were buying homes, investing in education, and planning for secure futures."
