

Immigrants in Iowa

Iowa has a small but growing community of immigrants, many of whom emigrated from Mexico. Six percent of Iowa residents were born in another country, and 5 percent are native-born Americans who has at least one immigrant parent. While relatively few in number, immigrants help support Iowa's economy and remain a critical component of the state's labor force: one-tenth of all residents working in the computer and math sciences are immigrants, as are one-sixth of production employees. The majority of immigrants speak English well and are naturalized citizens or eligible for naturalization. As neighbors, business owners, taxpayers, and workers, immigrants are an integral part of Iowa's diverse and thriving communities and make extensive contributions that benefit all.

Six percent of Iowa residents are immigrants, while five percent of residents are native-born U.S. citizens with at least one immigrant parent.

- In 2018, 175,137 immigrants (foreign-born individuals) comprised 6 percent of the population.¹
- Iowa was home to 80,326 women, 79,165 men, and 15,646 children who were immigrants.²
- The top countries of origin for immigrants were Mexico (26 percent of immigrants), India (6 percent), Vietnam (5 percent), China (4 percent), and Thailand (4 percent).³
- In 2018, 139,444 people in Iowa (5 percent of the state's population) were native-born Americans who had at least one immigrant parent.⁴

Nearly two out of five immigrants in Iowa are naturalized U.S. citizens.

- 68,344 immigrants (39 percent) had naturalized as of 2018,⁵ and 31,320 immigrants were eligible to become naturalized U.S. citizens in 2017.⁶
- Three in four (76 percent) immigrants reported speaking English "well" or "very well."⁷

Immigrants in Iowa are distributed across the educational spectrum.

- More than a quarter (28 percent) of adult immigrants had a college degree or more education in 2018, while nearly a third (30 percent) had less than a high school diploma.⁸

Education Level	Share (%) of All Immigrants	Share (%) of All Natives
College degree or more	28	29
Some college	19	33
High school diploma only	23	31
Less than a high school diploma	30	6
