Immigrants in Mississippi

Mississippi is home to a growing community of immigrants, many of whom emigrated from Mexico. While a small share of Mississippi’s population was born in another country, foreign-born residents are an important part of the state and its labor force, especially in certain sectors. For example, 7 percent of employees in Mississippi’s life, physical, and social science occupations are immigrants. As neighbors, business owners, taxpayers, and workers, immigrants are an integral part of Mississippi’s diverse and thriving communities and make extensive contributions that benefit all.

Two percent of Mississippi residents are immigrants, while another 2 percent of residents are native-born U.S. citizens with at least one immigrant parent.

- In 2018, 70,860 immigrants (foreign-born individuals) comprised 2 percent of the population.¹
- Mississippi was home to 31,319 women, 33,991 men, and 5,550 children who were immigrants.²
- The top countries of origin for immigrants were Mexico (23 percent of immigrants), Guatemala (10 percent), India (8 percent), the Philippines (4 percent), and Vietnam (4 percent).³
- In 2018, 55,305 people in Mississippi (2 percent of the state’s population) were native-born Americans who had at least one immigrant parent.⁴

Nearly two out of five immigrants in Mississippi are naturalized U.S. citizens.

- 26,595 immigrants (38 percent) had naturalized as of 2018,⁵ and 8,616 immigrants were eligible to become naturalized U.S. citizens in 2017.⁶
- Three-fourths (76 percent) of immigrants reported speaking English “well” or “very well.”⁷

Immigrants in Mississippi are concentrated at either end of the educational spectrum.

- Nearly one-third (30 percent) of adult immigrants had a college degree or more education in 2018, while more than one-fourth (29 percent) had less than a high school diploma.⁸
Education Level | Share (%) of All Immigrants | Share (%) of All Natives
--- | --- | ---
College degree or more | 30 | 23
Some college | 19 | 33
High school diploma only | 22 | 30
Less than a high school diploma | 29 | 14
